News from the Friends of Nose Hill

by Anne Burke

What Happened 50 Years Ago to Preserve Nose Hill?

The Calgary Council of Women wanted a legacy. In 1973, the City created the park after a lengthy debate. Council rejected a development application when communities favoured a major natural environment park. "Citizens for Nose Hill" presented a "Citizens' Brief." Then a steering committee produced the "Nose Hill Design Brief."

A rezoning challenge was only one of the obstacles because much of the land was privately owned. It was urgent to preserve it because some was already sold to developers, with a parcel to a homebuilder.

Community leaders and concerned citizens collected over 5,000 signatures on a petition opposing the rezoning. They organized a march along John Laurie Boulevard in defence of Nose Hill. There was even a children's petition, and their voices were heard.

City Council voted against any rezoning. However, the City still needed more time to buy up the land. The Supreme Court of Canada gave Calgary the right to purchase land on Nose Hill at its own pace. The provincial government agreed and declared that the Nose Hill lands be retained as a public open space in perpetuity.

On September 20, 1519, explorer Ferdinand Magellan, with five ships and 270 men, set sail from Spain in search of a route to Indonesia. After three treacherous years, 18 men and one ship, The Victoria, remained. Captained by Juan Sebastian Elcano, The Victoria became the first ship to circumnavigate the globe!

Preserving Pollinators: A Vital Task for a Sustainable Future

Pollinators, including bees, butterflies, birds, bats, and other insects, play a crucial role in our ecosystems and food production. They facilitate the transfer of pollen from male to female flowers, enabling fertilization and the subsequent production of fruits, seeds, and nuts. Unfortunately, pollinators worldwide are facing numerous challenges that threaten their survival. It is our responsibility to protect these essential creatures and safeguard the delicate balance of our natural world.

Pollinators are indispensable to biodiversity and food security. They contribute to the reproduction of nearly 90% of flowering plants and are responsible for pollinating more than 75% of the world's food crops, including fruits, vegetables, nuts, and seeds. Their role in maintaining healthy ecosystems cannot be overstated, as they support the growth of countless plant species and sustain the habitats of numerous animals.

Pollinators are confronted with a range of challenges that jeopardize their populations. Habitat loss due to urbanization, intensive agriculture, and deforestation is a significant threat. Pesticides, including neonicotinoids, can harm pollinators by affecting their navigation, feeding, and reproduction. Climate change disrupts natural patterns and alters flowering times, impacting the synchronization between pollinators and plants. Invasive species, diseases, and parasites also pose risks to pollinator populations.

Protecting Pollinators: Actions and Solutions:

1. Preserve and Create Habitat: Protecting and restoring natural habitats is crucial. Promote the establishment of pollinator-friendly spaces by planting native flowering plants, shrubs, and trees in gardens, parks, and urban areas. These areas serve as food sources and nesting sites for pollinators.

2. Reduce Pesticide Use: Implement integrated pest management practices that minimize the reliance on chemical pesticides. Encourage the use of natural alternatives and eco-friendly pest control methods to protect pollinators while maintaining agricultural productivity.

3. Support Organic Agriculture: Promote organic farming practices that avoid synthetic pesticides and prioritize ecological balance. Organic farms provide healthier habitats for pollinators, reducing their exposure to harmful chemicals.

4. Raise Awareness and Education: Educate communities, farmers, and gardeners about the importance of pollinators and the actions they can take to protect them. Encourage the public to create pollinator-friendly gardens, participate in citizen science projects, and support organizations working towards pollinator conservation.

5. Collaborate with Local Communities: Engage local communities, schools, and businesses in pollinator conservation efforts. Foster partnerships with farmers, landowners, and policymakers to implement pollinator-friendly policies and practices.

6. Research and Monitoring: Invest in research to better understand the challenges facing pollinators and develop innovative solutions. Monitor pollinator populations to identify trends, assess risks, and inform conservation strategies.

Protecting pollinators is vital for the health and sustainability of our ecosystems, agriculture, and overall well-being. By taking collective action to preserve habitats, reduce pesticide use, promote organic practices, and raise awareness, we can safeguard these invaluable creatures. Together, we can ensure a future where pollinators thrive, biodiversity flourishes, and our food systems remain resilient. Let us embrace our role as stewards of the natural world and prioritize the conservation of pollinators for generations to come.

Back-to-School Safety Tips for Pedestrians and Motorists

from Alberta Health Services

Alberta Health Services EMS would like to remind parents and students of some safety tips as the school year begins again this fall. Pedestrians and motorists both have an important role to play – road safety is a shared responsibility.

Motorists

- Distracted driving carries a $300 fine and three demerit points in Alberta. Avoid the use of mobile devices or engaging in any other behavior that diverts your attention away from driving.
- Give right-of-way to pedestrians who have activated overhead crossing lights, or who are waiting to cross from a street corner.
- Other than parked cars, it is illegal to pass another vehicle in a school or playground zone during posted hours.

Around School Buses

- Flashing amber lights mean that a bus is slowing down to stop – motorists should do so likewise.
- No matter which direction you are coming from, stop when approaching a school bus with activated flashing red lights unless the bus is on the opposite side of a divided highway from you.

- Driver courtesy goes a long way. By simply being alert and cautious when approaching a school bus, you are contributing to school bus safety.

Pedestrians

- Cross only at marked crosswalks or street corners that have clear visibility from all directions.
- Make eye contact with all drivers before crossing the street and keep distractions to a minimum.
- When activating overhead crossing lights, pause before stepping off the curb to ensure motorists in both directions have come to a complete stop.
- Stay within the crosswalk lines.
- Obey pedestrian lights at intersections. Cross the street only when you see the 'walk' sign and only when all cars have come to a complete stop.
- If you are with young children or pets, hold your child's hand firmly and keep a solid grip on leashes when crossing.
- Remember: children learn by observing. By demonstrating safe crossing habits, you can reduce the chances of your child being involved in a preventable auto/pedestrian collision.
