Triwood Writers

What stories have you lived?

You can become part of Triwood Writers! Join us at the Triwood Community Centre in the Foothills Room (downstairs) from 1:20 to 4:00 pm on the first Thursday of each month, year-round.

This group is designed for individuals who are interested in sharing their personal experiences and memories through the art of writing. Members provide friendly, helpful suggestions to help you become a better writer – take them or leave them! We all learn together. Whether you're a seasoned writer or a novice, our group provides a welcoming environment for all.

Bring your stories told in 500 to 1,500 words. You'll circulate your story by email to our small group a week before each get-together. Then we'll meet to discuss every submission. You'll also get feedback on your writing emailed from each member after each meeting.

It's not a writing course! It's an exploration. It's fun!

Each month through our story sharing, our group dives into collaborative feedback, creating community connections and personal growth.

Interested? Contact Colleen Tobman at tobman@tobman.ca and try something new.

Healthy Relationship for our Children

by Nancy Bergeron, R.Psych | info@nancybergeron.ca

How Does My Relationship with My Partner Affect My Children?

Children learn about relationships long before they begin having relationships of their own. They watch how their parents speak to one another, handle disagreements, show affection, repair hurts, and navigate life's challenges. The relationship between parents becomes one of the first models children have for understanding what love, safety, trust, and partnership look like.

A healthy marriage does not mean a marriage without conflict. In fact, children can benefit from seeing that disagreements are a normal part of relationships when those disagreements are handled with respect and ultimately repaired.

Children Feel Safer When Their Parents' Relationship Feels Secure

A strong parental relationship can provide children with an important emotional foundation. When children experience their parents as a team who care about one another and are committed to working through difficulties, they are more likely to experience their family as a safe and predictable place.

This sense of security gives children room to focus on the important work of childhood: learning, exploring, developing friendships, making mistakes, and discovering who they are.

Children Learn How Healthy Relationships Work

Children are constantly observing. They notice whether parents listen to each other, express appreciation, apologize when they are wrong, and respect one another's boundaries.

When parents demonstrate healthy communication, children learn that it is possible to express difficult feelings without attacking or humiliating another person. They learn that differences do not have to threaten a relationship and that problems can be discussed and resolved.

These lessons become part of their developing understanding of relationships.

Children Learn Resilience by Watching Parents' Repair

One of the most powerful lessons parents can provide is not perfection, it is repair.

Parents will sometimes become frustrated, misunderstand each other, or say something they wish they had said differently. When children see their parents take responsibility, apologize, listen, and reconnect, they learn an important message: relationships can experience difficulty without falling apart.

This is a foundation for resilience.

Children begin to understand that mistakes are not necessarily disasters, conflict can be managed, and difficult emotions can be worked through.

A Healthy Relationship Creates Emotional Space for Parenting

When parents feel connected and supported by one another, they often have greater emotional resources available for their children. A strong partnership can make it easier to share parenting responsibilities, problem-solve together, and support one another through the inevitable stresses of raising a family.

This doesn't mean parents must agree on everything. Healthy couples can have different perspectives while still communicating respect and presenting a united commitment to their children's wellbeing.

Children Don't Need Perfect Parents

Perhaps most importantly, children don't need a perfect marriage. They need parents who are willing to keep learning, growing, communicating, and repairing.

A healthy relationship between parents can teach children that love is not simply about getting along when everything is easy. It is about showing up, listening, taking responsibility, extending compassion, and finding your way back to one another after difficult moments.

When parents invest in the health of their relationship, they are not only strengthening their marriage, they are helping their children develop the emotional security, relationship skills, and resilience they will carry into the rest of their lives.

Support Victoria Fortuna and Her Family After a Tragic Highway Accident

In the early evening of February 8, 2026, the Fortuna family's life was forever altered by a devastating and senseless accident.

Victoria, a 21-year-old student at MacEwan University, and her father, Paul Fortuna, 53 years old, were the innocent victims of a horrific and tragic vehicle accident that occurred in Edmonton, Alberta. Sadly, her father, Paul, succumbed to his injuries at the scene, and Victoria has been left with catastrophic, life-threatening, and life-altering injuries. She is currently fighting for her life and receiving critical medical care at the University Hospital in Edmonton.

Donate to this GoFundMe by scanning the QR code to help ease the inconceivable financial hardship the Fortuna family is facing. The family is deeply grateful for the kindness, prayers, and support they have already received. Your generosity, through a donation or by sharing this GoFundMe, will allow them to focus on supporting their beloved Victoria through her long recovery journey. It takes a village and every donation counts.

Thank you for standing with them during this unimaginably difficult time.

Hooting Season

Who's That Calling?

Did you know that autumn is a great time to hear owls? Known as hooting season, owls hoot more frequently to claim and defend territory and find mating partners. The cooler, quieter nights of fall also helps the sound of their hoots carry farther!

News from the Friends of Nose Hill

In 1973, Calgary City Council voted to reserve 4,100 acres as parkland on the top and escarpments of the east end of Nose Hill. The result was a combination of vigorous and sustained political pressure due to the activities of citizen groups who promoted the creation of the park. The decision to acquire it was influenced by public and private lobbying, including civic servants. A citizens' task force was appointed by the City Parks and Recreation Board; their report identified Nose Hill as of the highest priority and should be immediately purchased outright. There was strong support for large natural areas when the Calgary Field Naturalists' Society completed their year-long study. Although the land had been a subject of speculation since World War I, the City was freed by provincial policy to plan for a major park on Nose Hill. The Calgary Municipal Airport, in the late 1950s, decided that Nose Hill was on a flight path, so that the Federal Department of Transport imposed a development ban. Some farmers had to relocate and during the 1960s' suburban sprawl, people believed the open space would remain, unless or until the jet soon replaced the propellor. The Calgary Planning Commission requested a sector plan for the Nose Hill Highlands from the City Planning Department. The North Hill Community Associations asked for a delay to help prepare the plan. Calgary Field Naturalists' Society, Society for Pollution and Environment Control, The Junior League, and Local Council of Women asked to speak at a Public Hearing, before City Council voted 11 to 2 to put a freeze on Nose Hill development. Read more of "Fish Creek and Nose Hill Parks: A case study in contrasting forms of public participation" by Harvey A. Buckmaster (1929 to 2018) and his wife Margaret who advocated for Alberta's special places. www.fonhs.org/xdocuments.html.

Alberta finds itself at a curious moment in its history. We are exporting more natural resources than ever before and generating enormous economic activity across the province. Yet many Albertans are left wondering where the benefits have gone. For all the wealth being created, daily life does not seem to be getting easier for the people who call Alberta home.

Wages have largely stagnated, and Alberta now has the lowest minimum wage in Canada. At the same time, the cost of housing, groceries, and other essentials keeps rising. Insurance rates have also skyrocketed. For many families, paycheques simply are not keeping up with the cost of living.

Meanwhile, health care remains underfunded and in a constant state of crisis, while moves to expand private delivery have not improved outcomes. Schools are also under pressure. Class size and complexity were major issues during last year's teachers' strike. This could have been avoided.

Rather than planning for growth and investing in our communities, the government is now blaming newcomers for the state of our public services. It's a politically convenient narrative we see used south of the border, but it is not a solution.

Millions of dollars were poured into the "Alberta is Calling" campaign, encouraging people to move here. It is unfair to now blame those who answered that call. Today's crises were not an accident or a surprise. They were a choice. They can only be addressed through stable funding of public services, not by scapegoating newcomers.

Aside from First Nations peoples, every Albertan has a migration story that has become part of their family history. That story is the story of us: Treaty people, proud Canadians, and proud Albertans. On the eve of a highly polarized referendum that seeks to divide us, let's remember how much stronger we are together.
