Classic Cars

1974 Buick LeSabre

Article by Fred Nelson

Uncle Steve special-ordered his convertible with every option including the AM/8-Track sound system. He also specified it should have the high-performance Stage 1 455-V8 engine.

When it arrived at the Calgary dealership, he picked it up and parted with $6000. Kept indoors on the farm, it was driven only on Sundays and special occasions, but never in winter.

A few years ago, Steve was getting on in years and gave the 33,000-mile car to his nephew Dan, who continues to pamper it.

Everything has been kept original, except this year it will be wearing a set of new wide-whitewall tires. Watch for it.

If you have a classic car that you would like to see featured in the community newsletter, please reach out to Fred Nelson at 403-242-3856.

RESIDENTS OF GLENDALE

by Laura Nixon

David and Marlyn Townsend have lived in Glendale since 1997, purchasing a bungalow from the original owners. They have been enjoying their spot across from the Glendale School ever since!

For them, Glendale has been the perfect spot to live. After thinking of downsizing, they still know that there is no place like home in Glendale! It's provided easy access to everything one needs in the city (including the well-loved Glamorgan Bakery). They have enjoyed many years of walking their rescue dogs through all of the Glendale and neighbouring parks.

Living across from the school means lots of activity and sounds of fun coming from the playground, fields, and ball games. David and Marlyn have opened their home over the years for more than ten international exchange students. Whether it was a hockey player from Germany or a first-time figure skater from Taiwan, all enjoyed the ice at the community rink! There are also memories of Santa driving the Zamboni around the rink, listening to the Stampede show bands practicing on the school grounds, and cheering people on when the Weekend to End Breast Cancer routes came through Glendale.

People look out for each other in Glendale, and David and Marlyn are still in touch neighbours and friends, even after some people have moved out of the neighbourhood. David also volunteered to share his expertise in last month's issue regarding tips for the upcoming tax season. Those tips have been put to good use by now, and it's that kind of sharing that makes Glendale a forever home of choice to so many.

We are currently recruiting for two paid positions (a part-time maintenance person, and a part-time hall coordinator). Please respond with your interest by April 9 to president@myglendale.ca. We are also recruiting for one volunteer coordinator position. This role will assist the Board with organizing our major events, such as the casino, volunteer, and community recognition events, etc. Please see the website for more information:

Board Member Stepping Down: At the March meeting, Britt Gray notified the Board that she was stepping down from her Member-At-Large position, effective immediately. The Board sincerely appreciates Britt's commitment to the Board since joining in September and looks forward to future opportunities for working together again.

Garden Season Has Begun!

Plots in the community garden are now available for rent! Each plot is $35 for members, for the season, on a first-come-first-served basis. If you are interested, please contact garden@myglendale.ca.

We are also planning to expand! Please reach out if you have a passion for growing and landscaping and want to share ideas and expertise – native plants, hardy fruit, fruit forests, or anything else.

New Artwork at the 45 Street LRT Station

Residents may have noticed concrete pouring and light installation on the northwest side of the station. Coming soon to Glendale is a public art installation called TransitStory by Jill Anholt. It is being relocated from a downtown LRT station, where it engaged pedestrians and commuters for ten years. Find out more at www.calgary.ca/arts-culture/public-art/transitstory.html.

April Fools

Although the origins of April Fools' Day are a bit murky, some historians believe it originated in the 16th century when France changed from the Julian to Gregorian calendar. Julian calendar New Years began in April, folks clinging to the old date got teased as they celebrated New Years on April 1 instead of January 1.

To have your pet featured in an upcoming edition of the Thumper, please send a photo and short write-up to thethumper@myglendale.ca. (Our Cat-alogue is steadily growing, and birds, fish, reptiles are welcome too!)

What's In Your Backyard?

Article and photo by Monika Smith

Glendale is fortunate in having a gorgeous variety of trees in our luxuriant canopy. It makes our community leafy, green, and desirable. Many are now mature trees from plantings when the community got started in the 1950s. That makes some of our trees around 70 years old. Our spruces and boulevard trees can easily hit 100, but depending on the species, 40 to 200 can be the life span. For those of you who have planted Limber pines (Pinus flexilis), they can live over a thousand years, bristlecone pines (Pinus aristata), even longer. Some very old trees are in nearby Edworthy Park. Visit a stand of Rocky Mountain Douglas Fir (Pseudotsuga menziesii var. glauca) along the Douglas Fir trail; some are at least 500 years old.

But we have trees that are aging out.

In our neighbourhood, we are facing a double whammy for our weeping birches. This is not a long-lived species to begin with, and some trees, like mine, are starting to age badly; they live about 40 to 50 years in Calgary. Secondly, they are also a water-loving tree.

The canopy on my tree is thinning out and branches have died and fallen off. If the top of the trees stops producing leaves and looks dead, it won't take long to die, progressing rapidly from top to bottom. I have had to make the difficult decision, in consultation with an arborist, to take it down. For decades, that tree has been a constant joy. A place for birds and squirrels to romp around in, and gorgeous golden fall colour. I will miss it.

One of my crabapples is having a tough time. Crabapples are thriftier than birches, but only live 40 to 60 years. Sadly, this tree with its pink spring beauty will also come down. A lot of birds will lose a place to roost, feed, and shelter. One badly sited tree, an apricot, is dying and an unknown fungus is slowly breaking it down, doing an important job of recycling.

I'm looking at shrubs to take their place. My delightful native pin cherry (Prunus pensylvanica) is now multi-stemmed and about three metres tall. Maybe another one? Native trees and shrubs can handle prairie dryness and clay soils plus foothills see-saw weather: chinooks, hail, cloudbursts, deep cold, wind gusts, no snow to snowmageddons, and heat.

Water restrictions are coming. The Bow Basin has twelve water shortage advisories as of December 2023. The City of Calgary's recommendation is to water most species to the roots one or two times a month during the growing season (April to September) and increase to once a week during hot weather. Use about 38 litres per inch of trunk diameter (at 54-inches above grade). The bigger the tree, the more water!

Keep an eye on your trees this summer, especially those older ones that just might be senescing. They'll need help this coming summer. Water well.

Keep them healthy so we can enjoy our canopy for years to come.

Join me for a Jane's Walk, May 5, to talk and chat about our wonderfully treed community and how to keep them healthy!

Until next time,

Monika's Grove

There are many huge weeping birches in Glendale. They are distinctive with their year-round white (and papery) bark and their graceful pendulous branches and gorgeous golden fall colour.
