Turn clutter into community impact! Fill the city packer trucks with general waste, and bring electronics, tires, and scrap metal for recycling. Please save your electronics—these items generate a rebate that directly supports SECA community events.

Items in good condition will be collected by Cerebral Palsy Alberta, and Youth en Route will accept bikes for reuse.

Clear out your home, support sustainability, and help fund future events—one load at a time.

Placekeeping: It's Ours to Care For

Over several years, we've talked about placemaking - reimagining everyday spaces and seeing new potential in our parks and gathering places. Just as important is placekeeping — the ongoing care and stewardship of those spaces by the people who use them. Placekeeping is a simple shift from "the" to "our" — not the libraries, but our libraries.

Last summer, we experienced some challenges — intentional damage to community chairs, graffiti on fences, and on our Little Free Libraries. While this is discouraging, it also highlights how much these shared spaces matter, and how important it is that we care for them together.

Placekeeping shows up in small, everyday actions:

- Treating shared items with respect.
- Picking up litter, leaving spaces clean and welcoming.
- Reporting or helping address damage.
- Pitching in when something needs attention.

It's neighbours looking out for neighbour and, taking pride in the space, we all share. When we actively care for our community, we build more than amenities—we build connection, belonging, and resilience. We invite residents to become placekeepers and to encourage family members and neighbours to do the same.

Community Garden and Gathering Space Project

This multi-phase project in the Evergreen Drive SW park will combine community gardens with an outdoor gathering space for events, education, and connection. The pace and scope of this project will be determined by the number of volunteers involved and the skills they bring. To help us plan the next phases of this project, we’re creating a skills and interests register of residents willing to contribute as the project evolves. If you’re open to sharing your background, experience, or areas of interest, please complete a short survey at <https://forms.gle/8g26gvN7Hf7EcPHd6>. Completing the survey does not commit you to volunteering – it simply helps us understand the strengths within our community.

Volunteer with SECA!

Communications Team - Clear communication nurtures connection and trust, creating a strong foundation for SECA’s important community-building work. Through social media, posters in our community, our e-newsletter, and our insert into the community print newsletter, you’ll help ensure residents know what’s happening and feel invited to participate. Your voice can help strengthen our community — and we would love to have you on the team. These tasks can be shared amongst two or three contributors. Please email info@yourseca.ca to request a detailed description of the tasks. Let’s talk!

More Volunteer Opportunities

Many roles are waiting to be filled. Find a role to suit your skills, interests and available time via the QR code or tell us how you would like to contribute.

Let’s Keep in Touch

For the latest SECA updates, visit yourseca.ca, subscribe to our e-newsletter, follow our social media, and watch for posters at our message centres (Little Free Libraries and A-Frames in local parks). We always enjoy hearing from residents—reach us anytime at info@yourseca.ca. Subscribe to our e-newsletters via the “Subscribe” QR code.

Together, we’re building a community where everyone belongs. Be part of it!

FRIENDS of Fish Creek

Savannah Sparrows in the Bow Valley Ranch Grasslands

Fish Creek Provincial Park's grasslands are full of life, and native plants are what fuel native species and provide them with the habitat they need to not only survive, but thrive, in their natural ecosystems. We're always interested in understanding what native species are making their homes in our restored areas and seeing if changes have happened due to the restoration process itself. As part of this data collection, volunteers joined us in June last year to do a Bio-Blitz in the grassland restoration area at the Bow Valley Ranch. The goal of this project was to use iNaturalist (a citizen science app) to document biodiversity (plants, birds, insects, mammals, fungi, and more!) between restored and un-restored areas.

In the restored area, we documented at least four Savannah Sparrow adults and located three nests that had either eggs or a nestling inside. This is exciting because while this species is known for living in native grasslands, it was only an occasional visitor within the bounds of Fish Creek Provincial Park for some time (dating back to the 1980s) due to the invasive brome and bluegrass making up most of the landscape. Savannah Sparrows are a small migratory songbird that nest in Alberta's grasslands and then depart between mid-September and early November to the Southern US, Mexico, and Central America. They return in the spring, usually in late April, and are recognizable by the yellow stripe on their heads.

Their song, which you may have heard if you frequent high-diversity grasslands here in Southern Alberta, has a three-part structure, which can resemble that of a red-winged blackbird—though blackbirds tend to live in different areas. Another similar species you may see in the Bow Valley Ranch are clay-colored sparrows, which have a buzzy almost grasshopper-like song, lay blue-coloured eggs, and usually nest in shrubs rather than the grass. Like all native grassland birds, Savannah Sparrows benefit from heterogeneous plant communities, with tall plants they can use for perching, short grasses for nesting, and plenty of wildflowers that produce seeds and attract insects for them to eat. With the diversity of native plants in our grassland restoration sites, it is no surprise we're now finding so many of these sparrows!

Savannah Sparrows have one of our favorite Latin names, Passerculus sandwichensis, not because of our favorite lunch food, but because the first specimen to be formally described was collected near Sandwich Sound (now Prince William Sound) in Alaska.
