Proposed Updates to Your Local Area Plan

City Council directed City Administration to update six of the approved local area plans (LAPs) to limit where rowhouses and townhouses can be developed

The proposed updates would apply the same location-based Limited Scale Policies in the Westbrook Communities and Heritage Communities LAPs to the rest of the approved LAPs.

What are the proposed changes?

The proposed updates would limit where rowhouses and townhouses are supported to parcels that have a rear lane and meet one of the following location criteria:

- within a transit station area,
- along or adjacent to an identified main street,
- on a corner parcel,
- or adjacent to a school, park or open space.

Two Rivers Flow Through Calgary

by Garth Paul Ukrainetz

Two rivers flow through Calgary
Two rivers we all know
Their source the Rocky Mountains
The Elbow and the Bow

They join at St. Pat's Island
Circle famous Calgary Zoo
Then continue on together
Through Alberta, blue and true

They wind along the prairies
Forge the soul of western plains
Brave the ice and snow of winter
Dance with spring and summer rains

Round each bend their water swirling
Past each field and farmer's plow
Until meeting with the Old Man
South Saskatchewan River now

Then on to Manitoba
Through Lake Winnipeg, still flow
Up the Nelson River northward
Into Hudson Bay they go

Yes, two rivers flow through Calgary
On their way to endless sea
Growing, changing on their journey
Just like you and just like me

Beyond the Impression: Van Gogh and Post-Impressionism

by Kristina Quapp

Van Gogh is an artist that needs no introduction, but the style of his work is a different story. Vincent's style is commonly mislabelled as impressionist, where the more accurate classification would be post-impressionist. Impressionism is a 19th-century art movement that featured a strong focus on lighting, thick brush strokes, unblended colours, and everyday modern subjects painted outdoors (en plein air). As most art movements do, impressionism built upon the foundations of the realist movement which took place about 20 to 30 years prior. Realist painters preferred working en plein air as it allowed them to capture natural light and unvarnished everyday life, while pushing back on traditional academy standards that forced what some considered artificial compositions. While both art styles feature an emphasis on lighting and capturing the environment, impressionists did not focus as heavily on the realistic details.

Though Van Gogh's work certainly captures elements of impressionism such as thick brush strokes and vivid colours, his work often pushed the boundaries of impressionism. For example, Claude Monet, the founder of the impressionist movement, features large brush strokes, but the lighting remains grounded. As can be seen in Monet's 1875 oil painting, Woman with a Parasol, the piece is heavily stylized. Brush strokes are visible and the hues are vibrant, but the edge light and shadow in front of the woman tells the viewer that Monet focused on realism when capturing the atmosphere. In contrast, Vincent's The Starry Night—while it maintains impasto as Monet did—exhibits even more vibrant colour contrast and his sentiment at the time, represented in weighty brush strokes. It's often conferred that The Starry Night is symbolic of Van Gogh's inner turmoil, given the swirling and turbulent skies, thick impasto brush strokes, and the large looming cypress tree outlined in red.

Vincent's The Garden of Saint Paul's Hospital, often referred to as Leaf-Fall, features inspired aspects from traditional Japanese woodblock prints. Van Gogh implements an elevated perspective and tree trunks that are abruptly cut off by the lower and upper edges of the canvas, eliminating the horizon line. These artistic choices create a compressed sense of space similar to the arrangements found in Japanese print designs.

Like the changing landscape around him, Van Gogh's work had moved beyond simply capturing a fleeting impression of the world. His colours became bolder, his brushwork more expressive, and his paintings increasingly shaped by emotion and personal interpretation. This October, as the leaves begin to fall, perhaps take a moment to look at the world around you—not only as it appears, but through the impression it leaves on you.

Halloween Safety

by Alberta Health Services

As a supporter of Calgary's Child Magazine's Partners for Safety initiative, Emergency Health Services (EHS) Alberta would like to remind parents and trick-or-treaters of important Halloween safety tips as October 31 approaches.

Partners for Safety vehicles will be out patrolling communities on Halloween night to provide a visible safety resource for parents and trick-or-treaters.

Trick-or-Treaters

- Remember: all regular pedestrian rules still apply. Be sure to cross the road at marked crosswalks or at well-lit corners. It is safest to work your way up one side of the street and then cross once to the other side.
- You may choose to avoid houses that are not well lit. Do not accept rides from strangers or enter any home where you feel unsafe.
- Let your parents know where you are going and what route you plan to take. Let them know if you will be late returning home.

Parents

- Be certain that an adult accompanies young trick-or-treaters. Older children should stay in groups.
- Predetermine the boundaries for trick-or-treating and establish a time for children to return home.

- Advise children not to eat anything until they return home. Dispose of any items that have been tampered with or are not properly wrapped.

Costumes

- Choose brightly coloured costumes that are highly visible. Adding reflective tape to costumes can further increase visibility.
- Consider sending your children with a flashlight for additional safety and visibility.
- When purchasing or making costumes, look for materials and accessories labelled flame-resistant.
- All costume accessories, such as sticks, rods, or wands, should be soft and flexible, with no sharp edges.
- Consider using hypoallergenic makeup instead of masks that may impair breathing or vision.
- Be sure costumes are loose enough to be worn over warm clothing, but not so long that they become a tripping hazard. Costumes should not extend below your child's ankles.
- Ensure your child is wearing adequate footwear that takes the weather conditions and walking into consideration.

Healthy Relationship for our Children

by Nancy Bergeron, R.Psych | info@nancybergeron.ca

How Does My Relationship with My Partner Affect My Children?

Children learn about relationships long before they begin having relationships of their own. They watch how their parents speak to one another, handle disagreements, show affection, repair hurts, and navigate life's challenges. The relationship between parents becomes one of the first models children have for understanding what love, safety, trust, and partnership look like.

A healthy marriage does not mean a marriage without conflict. In fact, children can benefit from seeing that disagreements are a normal part of relationships when those disagreements are handled with respect and ultimately repaired.

Children Feel Safer When Their Parents' Relationship Feels Secure

A strong parental relationship can provide children with an important emotional foundation. When children experience their parents as a team who care about one another and are committed to working through difficulties, they are more likely to experience their family as a safe and predictable place.

This sense of security gives children room to focus on the important work of childhood: learning, exploring, developing friendships, making mistakes, and discovering who they are.

Children Learn How Healthy Relationships Work

Children are constantly observing. They notice whether parents listen to each other, express appreciation, apologize when they are wrong, and respect one another's boundaries.

When parents demonstrate healthy communication, children learn that it is possible to express difficult feelings without attacking or humiliating another person. They learn that differences do not have to threaten a relationship and that problems can be discussed and resolved.

These lessons become part of their developing understanding of relationships.

Children Learn Resilience by Watching Parents' Repair

One of the most powerful lessons parents can provide is not perfection, it is repair.

Parents will sometimes become frustrated, misunderstand each other, or say something they wish they had said differently. When children see their parents take responsibility, apologize, listen, and reconnect, they learn an important message: relationships can experience difficulty without falling apart.

This is a foundation for resilience.

Children begin to understand that mistakes are not necessarily disasters, conflict can be managed, and difficult emotions can be worked through.

A Healthy Relationship Creates Emotional Space for Parenting

When parents feel connected and supported by one another, they often have greater emotional resources available for their children. A strong partnership can make it easier to share parenting responsibilities, problem-solve together, and support one another through the inevitable stresses of raising a family.

This doesn't mean parents must agree on everything. Healthy couples can have different perspectives while still communicating respect and presenting a united commitment to their children's wellbeing.

Children Don't Need Perfect Parents

Perhaps most importantly, children don't need a perfect marriage. They need parents who are willing to keep learning, growing, communicating, and repairing.

A healthy relationship between parents can teach children that love is not simply about getting along when everything is easy. It is about showing up, listening, taking responsibility, extending compassion, and finding your way back to one another after difficult moments.

When parents invest in the health of their relationship, they are not only strengthening their marriage, they are helping their children develop the emotional security, relationship skills, and resilience they will carry into the rest of their lives.
